J. Morse; vocal duet, Madeline Camp and Lyndal Lebourveau; reading, Mrs. H. F. Johnson.

Court Granite City, No. 3, Foresters of America, held a very successful dance in their hall Saturday evening, over forty couples participating. All had a pleasant time. The grand march was led by the officers of the court and their wives, after which came a well-selected program of dances prepared by A. Ross, who acted as floor master. McLeod's orchestra furnished excellent music.

"A Trip Over the Rocky and Selkirk Mountains in Canada." The camera has done its work well in this beautiful scenic picture in painting in black and white upon the canvas the grandeur and beauty of the world-old Rockies. Even minus the riot of color that abounds there, minus the blue of the sky, the green of the lakes, the sunshine which glides the peaks and pinnacles, the glories of the foliage and the wonderful colors of the rocks with all their infinite variety—minus all these, still we are deeply impressed with the lavish beauty of the Rockies. It's at the Dreamland.

HAD WILD RUN

But There Was Comparatively Little Damage Done by Horse.

A team belonging to James H. Cook, the expressman, caused considerable excitement on South Main street Saturday afternoon. The wagon to which the horse was attached had been backed up to the door of the Haskell house and was already partially loaded with furniture when along came a car and frightened the animal into a slow gallop down the street. The horse began to gain in speed, and Mr. Cook viewed his fast disappearing steed from a window in the basement whence he had gone for more of the household goods.

Catching up with a large double load of wood near Dr. J. W. Jackson's house, a part of the furniture was deposited in the wood sled, while the express horse sped madly on his way. The force of the blow broke the neck yoke of the horses on the wood team, but the driver, William Henry, was able to steer his charges into F. A. Slayter's yard, where the damage was easily repaired.

In the meantime, Mr. Cook's horse had covered half the distance to North Barre before anyone ventured to hinder his advance. After a while, however, the animal evidently became winded and was easily caught and returned to its owner. The damage resulting from the runaway was small compared to the amount of excitement which it caused. Several pieces of furniture were somewhat the worse for the accident, but beyond this the loss was trivial.

At the opera house to-night three reels of pictures will be shown with the vaudeville acts. The acts include the Great Leroy, a real novelty musical act; Leo Cooper & Co. in the dramatic playlet, "The Price of Power," and the Hatches' clever colored singing and dancing team.

Thomas H. Cave, jr., cashier in the National bank of Barre, and Newman K. Chaffee of Rutland have been appointed by Governor Mead as expert bookkeepers to install a new system of bookkeeping in the state treasurer's office pursuant to a law passed at the last session of the legislature.

Miss Nelson has returned from Boston, where she met her trimmer, Mrs. F. H. Patch.

The latter comes with the best recommendations as to style and workmanship. Miss Nelson's store will be closed the first part of the week for repairs, and during the latter part of the week it will be reopened, showing the spring styles in millinery.

N. M. Nelson, the expressman, has bought an automobile truck to use in his business between Barre and Montpelier.

The truck was sold by E. A. Brown and was made by the Kelly Motor Truck company of Springfield, Ohio. The machine arrived today. It has a 40-horsepower engine and is seventeen feet in length, over all. It is a two-ton model truck, with a maximum carrying capacity of two and a half tons.

Owing to the tragic and untimely death of David Graham Phillips, and to the fact that Goldsborough, the man who shot Mr. Phillips, was laboring under the delusion that he was the character "Joshua Craig," and that one of his sisters was "Margaret," the Washington society girl, in "The Fashionable Adventures of Joshua Craig," this book has received much newspaper publicity.

Now on sale at popular price, C. N. Kenyon & Co.'s store.

The annual inspection and review of St. Aldemar commandery, No. 11, Knights Templar, will be held in Masonic hall Thursday evening, March 16.

Acting Grand Commander Sir George F. Root of Newport, Grand Inspector General Sir William Heriot of Montpelier, and other grand commandery officers will be present. A chicken-pie supper will be served in the banquet hall at 6 o'clock by the ladies' aid society of the Congregational church, followed by the meeting of the commandery. The order of the temple will be exemplified during the evening.

Molesta Marchesi of Blackwell street had a harrowing experience Saturday afternoon, which he does not care to have repeated.

While trying to light a fire in a range with the aid of kerosene oil, Mr. Marchesi was badly burned about the head. The fire had obstinately refused to start, and he decided to apply kerosene. What followed the application of the match may easily be imagined.

The flames nearly enveloped Mr. Marchesi, although the aid of other members of the household prevented his clothing from being ignited. As it was, however, his eyebrows and hair were badly singed, while in places the hair was burned entirely.

Although he is thus left minus hair and eyebrows, the outcome of the accident was extremely fortunate.
